DETAILED ACTION

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

"Comprising" (line 3) is an improper legal phraseology.

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: "substances 18" (page 13, line 2) should be -- substances 5 --.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities:

- the claim lacks a transitional phrase.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kraszewski et al. (US 5,554,935).

Regarding claim 8, Kraszewski et al. discloses an apparatus (Fig. 1) for determining the mass of portioned units of active substances (Abstract, lines 1-2), in particular capsules, tablets or dragees (3), which comprises a microwave generator (column 4, lines 21-22), a microwave resonator (10), a device for guiding the units of active substances through the microwave resonator (column 4, line 22), measuring and evaluation electronics (column 4, line 23) for determining the mass (Abstract, lines 1-2) from the displacement A of the resonant frequency (displacement between 1 and 2, Fig. 4a) and the broadening B of the resonance curve (left curve is broader than right curve, Fig. 4a), and a device for removing individual units of active substances (means for separating, column 3, line 65 – column 4, line 2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kraszewski et al. in view of Mayer et al. (US 5,602,485).

Kraszewski et al. further discloses that the devices for guiding the units of active substances have a tube (5) through which the units of active substances are conveyed (Fig. 2).

However, Kraszewski et al. does not disclose that the units of active substances are conveyed by an air stream.

Nevertheless, Mayer et al. discloses that the units of active substances (14's) are conveyed by an air stream (Fig. 1) for the purpose of processing the capsules at a high rate of speed (column 1, lines 32-35).

Art Unit: 2863

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Kraszewski et al. with a conveying air stream as disclosed by Mayer et al. for the purpose of processing the capsules at a high rate of speed.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 13, 18, and 19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 1-7, 9-12, 14-16, and 20 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the objection(s) set forth in this Office action.

Reasons For Allowance

The combination as claimed wherein the mass M is determined, with compensation of the influence of the moisture (claim 1) or a second microwave resonator with measuring and evaluation electronics for determining the mass of the units of active substances before filling (claim 13) or the devices for guiding the units of active substances have an endless belt with depressions, into which the units of active substances are inserted (claim 18) the devices for guiding the units of active substances have a circular disk, on the circumference of which the units of active substances are held firmly with the aid of vacuum (claim 19) is not disclosed, suggested, or made obvious by the prior art of record.

Art Unit: 2863
